Charles Thomas Nicholas, Coleman's Pioneer Businessman, Passed Away In Hospital Monday Afternoon

Came to Fernie in 1906 And to Coleman in 1907; Had Been Dry Goods Pedler In Early Days; Funeral Held This Morning.

Heavenly sleep came quietly to close the weary eyes of Charles Thomas Nicholas, 70, as he lay in the local hospital on Monday afternoon. In poor health for almost a year he had been admitted as a patient, first in a Seattle hospital and on Friday last as a patient in the local hospital. Family members were with him at the end.

Born in Syria he married in his native land. In 1906 he, Mrs. Nicholas and daughter, Salma, came to Canada, settling at Fernie. Mr. Nicholas engaged as a dry goods peddler in the B.C. town. A year later they came to reside in Coleman where he continued his peddling of dry goods throughout the Pass towns. In 1914 he established a dry goods business in the building now occupied by Rialto Pool Room. A few years later he built his present store.

His was a pleasing yet conservative disposition; he met everyone who entered his store with a kind smile and a word of greeting. His trust in human nature was boundless. While never active in community activity, a task which he left to family members, he never failed clothing drive committees and a box of clothing was always assured from the Nicholas store. His only association with an organization was with the Knights of Columbus and he lost interest in this following the death of Mrs. Nicholas in 1940.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Michael Savage, (Lottie) of Seattle; Mrs. Michael Michael (Annie) and Mrs. Joe Melusi, (Emily) both of Coleman and one son, Nick of Coleman. There are also eight grandchildren. Mr. Nicholas was pre-deceased by his elder son Tony in 1929, his wife in 1940 and his eldest daughter, Salma, (Mrs. James Koury) in 1941.

The funeral was held at Holy Ghost church this morning with Rev. Father Leo Sullivan officiating. Interment was made in Coleman Catholic cemetery.

In respect to the memory of their pioneer business associate all Coleman businessmen closed their stores during the morning hours of the funeral.

MIXED CHOIR CONCERT CANCELLED

The concert to be given by the University Mixed Choir this evening in Blairmore's Columbus hall has been cancelled.

Road conditions and the prevailing government bans preventing the large bus from transporting the choir to scheduled towns. It is also understood that negotiations with other transportation companies failed to bear fruit.

Blairmore Lions Club, sponsors of the concert, regret the cancellation of the concert especially since they had advertised it and sold a number of admission tickets.

Hon. W. Fallow Dies In Edmonton Hospital

HON. W. A. FALLOW stroke is fatal.

EDMONTON—Hon. W. A. Fallow, 64, Alberta minister of public works since 1935, died in hospital Monday. He suffered a stroke while in his office 10 days ago. He had not been in good health for some time.

Mr. Fallow, a former railway telegrapher, was elected to the Alberta Legislature in the 1935 Social Credit landslide and the late Premier William Aberhart selected him for the portfolio of public works in the first Social Credit government.

MR. FALLOW was elected in 1935 and 1940 in his home constituency of Vermillion and in 1944 was chosen to represent the northern constituency of Grouard.

Early in February he went to Arizona when advised to spend some time in a warm, dry climate. The minister was in the United States for nearly two months and missed the recent session of the legislature.

As telegrapher for the then Canadian Northern Railway, Mr. Fallow served at Vermillion, Alberta, Rainy River, Ontario, and the Battlefords, Saskatchewan.

HE ENTERED public service while at Vermillion, serving as mayor of that town for several years.

Handsome Hockey Trophy For Best Pee Wee Player

An added inducement to the small fry of town who desire to be big league hockey players when they grow up has been given by the local branch of the Canadian Legion who has awarded an exceptionally handsome trophy to the officials of the Pee Wee hockey league.

The trophy, plus a miniature, will be given the player judged the best in the league. The trophy is quite large and features a hockey player in uniform with stick in hand. The large trophy will be the winner's to hold in custody for a year. The miniature, which is also a beautiful work of art and featuring a hockey player, becomes the property of the winner.

John Angus Hume, 82, Kootenay pioneer and former resident of Coleman in the early twenties, died at Nelson a few weeks ago.

Deceased came here prior to 1920, gaining employment at McGillivray where he was a hard-rock miner. Interested in sports he managed Coleman Hockey club in 1920, Bill Gate being one of his team players.

His originally came from Rossland to Coleman and in 1923 he returned to the Kootenays where he resided until his death.

Municipal Hospital Work Speeding Up

Bricklayers Should be Finished In Three Weeks; Plasterers Here This Week.

The work at the new Municipal Hospital has speeded up considerably since the arrival of the bricklayers a month ago. The partitions in the first floor have been completed and the walls on the second floor were completed last week and this week will see the completion of the partitions on the second floor.

The concrete slab which will form the roof of the hospital was poured last Thursday and Friday thus permitting the bricklayers to start on the outside walls of the third story.

The plumbers have been keeping pace and this week the electricians are being hard pressed to keep pace with the bricklayers.

Since all pipes, wiring, etc. are to be encased in the walls and floors the plumbers, electricians and telephone men must complete their work before the plasterers start work which is expected to be the latter part of this week.

Due to the work speeding up the hospital board is increasing its number of meetings in order to purchase equipment which requires from 2 to 4 months delivery time. They met for four hours last Thursday evening and again last night.

Combined School And Town Tax Rate Struck At 67 Mills; To Raise Total Of $43,000

Council Decrees All Must Adhere to Fire By-Law; Council Hears Report on Sanitation; With-hold Appointment of Part Time Book keeper

Regular meeting of the council was held on Tuesday evening. Present Mayor F. Abousaef, Councillors Dutil, Jenkins, Ramsay, Wilson and Wood.

E. Hutton was present to request that council recommend him to the provincial government for a business license. Mr. Hutton has been granted the Coleman agency for the Maytag Washer and will enter into business soon.

R. A. Montalbetti was present requesting council to reconsider its decision of two weeks ago that the contemplated addition to the rear of his main street store be constructed of fire proof material. Supporting his statements was Mr. O. Celli who contended that the present fire by-law created a hardship in certain cases. Following their departure the council discussed the subject at length and came up with their original decision... the firewalls must be adhered to.

Mrs. F. Horejsi was present to ask council to reconsider its decision to start eviction proceedings against her family for non-payment of house rent. Council, solicitor Bannan and Mrs. Horejsi all took part in the discussion. Upon her departure facts and figures were produced showing the trend of payments over the past several years. Council agreed to let its original decision stand.

Councillors Jenkins and Wood reported on their inspection tour of the town with the provincial health inspectors two weeks ago. They stated the Coleman Hotel cesspool had been emptied prior to their inspection. The inspectors had not examined the Sepeta Bowling Alley wall where seepage from the cesspool had occurred. The inspectors had been unable to determine whether or not the cesspool was too small to handle the hotel's sewage.

The Grand Union's drainage field, north of the arena, had been inspected and the inspectors had stated the same sewage system was followed successfully in many towns. They surmised that the cause of last year's trouble had arisen when the sewage stream had been interrupted causing the field to freeze in a certain spot thus creating the trouble.

A trip was made to the water intake in west Coleman and then to the McGillivray ash pile from which it is alleged, ashes are falling into the river. The inspectors stated that while ash dust might be going into the intake it would not contaminate the water as contamination only came from animal matter. The councillors however objected to ash dust in the water.

Finances were next discussed in order to strike the mill rate. The town budget calls for an expenditure of approximately $20,000 while the school requisition asks $23,000 from town ratepayers. Mayor Abousaef busied himself with pencil and paper and soon announced that the money could be raised with a 67 mill rate, the same rate as 1947. Adoption was given the 67 mill rate.

Applications for the position of part time book-keeper were studied. Three applications were received, two from ladies and one from a youth who has just finished business school. The latter's application stated he would consider part time book-keeping and part time work on town projects in order to give him a full time job. An interview is to be arranged with him to determine what arrangements can be made. In the meantime the other two applications will be held in abeyance.

Forestry Surveyors Here This Week

Forestry Road To Run Either Through Coleman or Slightly East Depending on East-side Grade.

A survey party was seen at work near the tennis courts on Monday morning and enquiry revealed that it belonged to the forestry department which seeks to build a new road through the various forestry areas on the eastern slope of the Rockies and thus improve forest fire fighting facilities.

The road will start in the Waterton district and cut across No. 3 highway either directly into Coleman or slightly to the east of town. It is planned to follow Pelletier Creek north. However a survey was taken Monday at the tennis courts to determine the elevation of this area. Should it be lower it is very probable the easier grade will be followed for some distance.

Mr. Harry Holmes, of Sentinel Motors, was a Calgary business visitor at the weekend arriving home on Tuesday.

Marked progress has been made in the construction of the C. N. P. Municipal hospital in recent weeks and we have the word of the architect that it should be ready for occupancy in either August or September.

It is noted that in towns further afield there are one or more ladies' organizations which take an active interest in their hospital, looking after its linen, donating gifts in the form of equipment, etc. and maintaining that interest over the years.

The same should hold true in the Pass. Surely in each town some ladies could organize to help their hospital, a hospital in which they can all feel justly proud. It would not do if we all took the cold attitude of some who state "I will be taxed for its upkeep, what more do you expect from me?"

A hospital needs more than money, it requires the interest of the citizens in the district, it requires the pride of all aggressive citizens in the sense that it belongs to them, it requires their constant aid, both materially and in providing a friendly atmosphere for the doctors and nurses who will staff it.

WISE, AS WELL AS PROFITABLE

Building up an industrial western Canada has been advocated with greater emphasis in the past few years by Canadians who are anxious that Canada become more self-sufficient. Their arguments were given strength at Vancouver recently by Dr. F. W. Gray, formerly Assistant General Manager of Dominion Steel & Coal Co. in Sydney, N.S. who stated: "Per square mile of territory (leaving out N.W.T. and Yukon), Canada has 22,000 tons of recoverable coal reserves, but east of Saskatchewan we have less than 1,000 tons per sq. mile. On the same basis, the British Isles save 14 million tons and the United States one million tons per sq. mile. The uneven distribution of Canada's coal resources, and their inadequacy to support our industrial economy unaided by importations, is apparent. Coal supply has been, and will remain, the heaviest shackle on our industrial self-sufficiency and our national freedom in fiscal matters."

Following this concise summation of our fuel problems, Dr. Gray proposes a long term plan to alleviate it. Since we cannot bring our abundance of Alberta coal to the industrial areas of Ontario and Quebec, will it not be wise, as well as profitable, to encourage future industrial expansion in the West, where there is such an abundance of coal, gas and (we hope) oil, and other natural resources?

The All-New 1949 Monarch Car

An all-new automobile, low, spacious and distinctively styled, will carry the name "Monarch" into a new luxury field of passenger car transportation. The 1949 Monarch, powered by a big, 110-h.p. V-type eight cylinder engine of new design, will be publicly introduced in dealer showrooms across Canada this month. It will be available in the sport sedan shown here and in a six-passenger coupe model.

Bodies of the new Monarch are markedly spacious. Three adults may ride in comfort on either front or rear seat, the latter being a full five feet in width. Hardware is rugged but gracefully cast and fabrics are refreshingly new. The car also introduces a specially designed ventilation system which carries a controlled flow of cool, clean air to all parts of the interior. When combined with a heater unit, it provides uniformly warm, fresh air in both front and rear seating compartments. All-round visibility is achieved without sacrifice of structural strength and there is exceptionally large luggage space under the "bustle" back in both models.

The Monarch's engine has automatic choke and an automatic "fast-idle" feature to prevent stalling after a cold start. The engine itself is completely insulated from the frame by three rubber-bonded - to - steel mounting units.

The frame of the new car is described by the makers as one of the most rigid yet designed. Resilient coil springs are employed in the front end suspension with airplane-type shock absorbers installed within the springs. This enables them to work on the same plane as the springs for maximum effectiveness. The same type of shock absorbers are sea-leg mounted at the rear where they function with new, longitudinal springs. "Equalized steering", another feature of the 1949 Monarch, is achieved by the use of turning arms of the same length.

TRUCK SALES

Coleman Motors received a carload of three trucks on Tuesday morning. A half-ton 1948 Mercury has been sold to John Godfrey, of Bellevue, a one-ton 1948 Mercury was sold to J. Czekowski, of Beaver Mines and a 3-ton Mercury's ownership was to be determined Wednesday afternoon between two local parties. Another carload of trucks is expected this weekend.

Spinning in from 3,000 feet, Holland's light plane crashed along a railway line and slid into a factory wall, as shown here. Holland said that he couldn't get out of the spin. "I saw a lot of trees, smokestacks and buildings, and then woke up in a hospital," he said.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

Worth A Broken Jaw

By THOMAS W. TOBIN

IT ISN'T every day that a fellow meets a girl like Mollie Ryan, but when a fellow like Timmy Murphy gets his heart set on a girl like Mollie things are bound to happen. And they did.

It was Tim's birthday and all six feet of him was celebrating. Not noisily, you understand, but in a good old Irish way. There had been a few fights, which Tim had enjoyed a lot, he being one of the contenders in each one. But no one was hurt seriously and they all repaired to the nearest bar as soon as each brawl was over to have a few drops of cheer and tell each other what a good fighter he was.

Tim was not only big, he was friendly. The only time he fought was when he had nothing else to do. His Irish blue eyes would sparkle and his red curly hair would bounce about as he weaved and ducked amongst the blows. His nose, which bore evidence of previous encounters, was always ready to take another right-cross. But all this changed on this particular birthday, and it was all because Mollie Ryan didn't like fighting.

Tim was whaling the daylight out of a longshoreman who wasn't much bigger than he was when the incident happened which changed Tim's life.

There was quite a crowd around watching the bout which was taking place in front of Dugan's. Two or three of the boys were missing out on the fun because they were delegated to watch for the cops. They watched for the cops, all right, but they let Mollie Ryan through. That's what changed both the course of a good fight and also the course of an Irishman's life.

Tim had just knocked the longshoreman down for the third time when he heard a woman's voice. It wasn't so much what the voice said as the way it said it.

"They should put a stop to this street fighting, Doctor!" said the voice.

When Tim heard it he turned his head in the direction of the sound. The voice fitted its owner perfectly. It was beautiful and so was she. It was cool and lovely, and so was she. He had never heard a voice so cool and lovely in all his life. "Hello, beautiful," he started to say, and then the blow fell.

It seems the longshoreman recovered from the last bust in the jaw, and he wasn't bothered by beautiful girls with beautiful voices. So he just walked over and let one fly at Tim's nose.

Minutes later, Tim woke up. It was really longer than that, but it didn't bother Tim any because he woke up in heaven—he thought.

As he opened his eyes Tim looked into the eyes of an angel. Funny, they looked just like those of the girl he had seen for the first time only a minute before. She had her arm under his head and seemed to be talking to someone else. "Doctor," she said, "do you think he'll live?"

"Oh, he'll be all right, nothing serious," answered a masculine voice.

Tim tried to rise up and tell the world and this beautiful creature, too, that it was his birthday and he was all right. But he couldn't rise up and he couldn't speak, only groan.

Then he realized he was moving. As his eyes moved around he noticed that he was stretched out on the rear seat of a limousine and the other two people were sitting on the extra seats. Again he tried to speak but only managed to groan.

"Poor fellow, he has a broken jaw, it must be painful," said the cool voice, and a soft hand suddenly felt his forehead. "Better give him another shot, Doctor, don't you think?"

The doctor thought and soon Tim was back to painless sleep. When Tim woke again he was in an immense bed with posts on each corner. He was alone, but not for long. It was daylight, and as he tried to peer out of the curtained window he heard a door open. It was the girl again—now he remembered her through a haze which had no rhyme or reason. But he did remember—how could he forget? There she was just as fresh and sweet as ever—he tried to say something but only managed to groan—his jaw wouldn't work.

"Just be patient, blue-eyes," said the vision, "you'll be able to talk, soon as your broken jaw heals. Meanwhile, get your mind off fighting and think of something else."

Tim needed no encouragement to think of something else.

Weeks later Tim was back in his old haunts. But he wasn't the same. His jaw had healed up, but he wouldn't fight. His old friends couldn't understand it. There was something wrong.

Tim took a job driving taxi and stayed sober. That was unusual too. The boys around the corner just couldn't figure it out. Ever since the night the dame took Tim away in the limousine, he had never been the same.

All that was the matter with Tim was that he was in love with the girl in the limousine and he had promised he would never fight again.

Things went along this way for a while, and then, one night while Tim was cruising around looking for a fare he came upon a fight. It was between a chauffeur and two other guys. The chauffeur's car was parked and the fight wasn't going in his favor. The limousine looked familiar to Tim, and then he realized it was Mollie Ryan's car, and there she was in it.

That was enough for Tim. He stopped his cab, peeled off his coat and started swinging.

Minutes later there were two tough guys laid out cold and a uniformed chauffeur was thanking his lucky stars. Tim looked at the two toughs he had beaten and then he realized he had been fighting. This was the first time he had seen Mollie since he had left her house. What would she think of his fighting?

He didn't have long to wait, for she suddenly appeared beside him, and once again he looked into the eyes of an angel.

"Tim," she said, "I'm glad you broke your promise not to fight. Those fellows were trying to kidnap me and you stopped them."

Before Tim could say a word she kissed him—and it hurt.

Tim tried to talk, but he only groaned. Mollie looked at him and said, "Well, you've got another broken jaw. I guess this time I'd better keep you with me."

Tim couldn't say yes. He could only nod his head.

Scientists Test Value Of Peat As Soil Restorer

Active Experiments Being Held In Ontario And Quebec

OTTAWA.—A peat bog is probably a poor place to attempt agriculture, but just the same Canadian peat promises to play an important part in agriculture, through soil improvement.

Scientists of the bureau of mines, who are charged with experimental investigation of peat, revealed that at the present time active experiments are being held on various plots set aside on Ontario and Quebec farms to test the value of peat as a soil restorer.

Depletion of soil humus is a situation which develops where long cultivation and erosion is present. On account of their high costs, commercial and domestic fertilizers cannot be used on a wide scale as the sole source of organic matter required to bring the soils back to top production condition.

Experiment has shown that the better grades of peat are a good source of organic matter which modifies soils, making them more favorable for plant growth.

TRANSPARENT VIOLIN IS MADE OF PLASTIC—A violin made entirely of plastic material is held by Betty Walsh, Toronto. Betty recently played her violin at a school concert.

Peat can be used also with adequate additions of commercial fertilizer to remedy nutritional deficiencies. Restoration and maintenance of the organic matter in the soil by the peat humus thus greatly increases the efficiency of the fertilizer.

 see the All-New 1949
MERCURY

We're proud to display the biggest, most beautiful Mercury in history. A low, road-hugging car that rides, steers, handles like no car you've ever driven before. Broad and spacious inside, with a wide-open view all round. And this big, all-new Mercury is the smoothest, quietest thing on wheels. Come in and see it.
